MOTION TO ALLOW COUNSEL TO REPRESENT
CHILDREN UNBORN AND BORN ALIVE

The Court is moved to allow Alan Ernest to represent the victims being killed by Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113, as counsel or guardian ad litem, for the purpose of defending their right to life under the U.S. Constitution.

INTEREST OF COUNSEL

Alan Ernest is a lawyer in the District of Columbia and a member of the bar of this Court. His purpose is to prove that the guarantee of life to "any person," made in the U.S. Constitution, does include the unborn.

This is effectively a motion to allow retained counsel since there will be no expense to this Court, or to the taxpayers.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

The unborn have a constitutional right to be especially represented by counsel to prove that their lives are specifically guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

Argument

THE UNBORN HAVE A CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO BE ESPECIALLY REPRESENTED BY COUNSEL TO PROVE THEIR LIVES ARE PROTECTED BY THE U.S. CONSTITUTION.

THIS COURT EFFECTED AND MAINTAINED THE ROE V. WADE KILLINGS BY UNCONSTITUTIONALLY REFUSING TO ALLOW COUNSEL TO REPRESENT THE UNBORN AND DEFEND THEIR RIGHT TO LIFE UNDER THE U.S. CONSTITUTION.

Counsel did not especially represent the unborn in the U.S. District Court, or at any stage in Roe v. Wade. An original party objected that the unborn should be represented by counsel in this Court:

(T)he Court should have every benefit of a complete record and the representation of a guardian ad litem for that fetal entity and for its¹ natural right to develop to birth.

But this Court refused to allow counsel to represent the unborn and defend their right to life under the U.S. Constitution. Thus the killings commenced.

And the Supreme Court has maintained the killings by steadfastly refusing to allow counsel to represent the unborn, and defend their right to life under the U.S. Constitution.²

1. Petition for Rehearing 5, Doe v. Bolton, 410 U.S. 179 (1973), denied 410 U.S. 959 (1973).

2. The Court has refused to allow counsel for the unborn in all its abortion cases. Some are: Colautti v. Franklin, 439 U.S. 379, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 437 U.S. 902; Anders v. Floyd, 440 U.S. 445, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 439 U.S. 890; Bellotti v. Baird, 443 U.S. 622, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 439 U.S. 1065; Asbcroft v. Freiman, affirmed 440 U.S. 941, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied, 440 U.S. 941; United States v. Zbaraz, 448 U.S. 358, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 444 U.S. 1030; Harris v. McRae, 448 U.S. 297, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 445 U.S. 941; H.L. v. Matheson, 450 U.S. 398, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 445 U.S. 959; Simopoulos v. Virginia, 462 U.S. 506, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 458 U.S. 1104; Planned Parenthood of Kansas City v. Asbcroft, 462 U.S. 476, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 458 U.S. 1104; Akron Center for Reproductive Health v. Akron, 462 U.S. 416, motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 458 U.S. 1104; Diamond v. Charles, 90 L Ed 2d 48 (1986), motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 87 L Ed 2d 704; Thornburgh v. American College of Obstetricians, 90 L Ed 2d 779 (1986), motion to allow counsel for the unborn denied 87 L Ed 2d 702; Hartigan v. Zbaraz, 98 L Ed 2d (1988), motion to allow counsel to for the unborn denied 93 L Ed 2d 697, and Webster v. Reproductive Health Services, ___ U.S. ___ (1989).

The unborn have a constitutional right to be represented by counsel in this case to defend their right to life under the U.S. Constitution.³ Judges who willfully

3. Even in civil proceedings, where crucial deprivations are threatened, such as loss of welfare, due process guarantees (1) prior notice of the factual and legal bases; (2) the right to be represented by counsel; (3) the right to confront and cross-examine adverse evidence; (4) the right to present evidence. Goldberg v. Kelly, 397 U.S. 254, 268-271 (1970). See also, In Re Gault, 387 U.S. 1 (1967).

Could it be possible that procedures, which could not be used to deprive a mother of welfare, could be used to exclude her from the protection of the U.S. Constitution so that she could be killed with impunity from criminal laws? This is preposterous.

The Constitution would not permit any court to condemn even one single Jew to death in a criminal case, but deny any of these procedural rights. Then neither can it permit any court to condemn all Jews in the United States to death, but deny any of these procedural rights, by calling it a civil proceeding, and decreeing the lives of all Jews are not protected by the U.S. Constitution, and it is "liberty" to kill all Jews with impunity from criminal laws.

Any victim is entitled to all these procedural protections before any court can decree that the victim's life is not protected by the Constitution, and the victim can be killed with impunity from criminal statutes. The rule for one is the rule for all; these are the sacred truth-seeking procedures which protect the lives of all Americans.

deny this right are guilty of crime.⁴ This denial makes Roe v. Wade void.

THIS COURT EFFECTED THE ROE v. WADE KILLINGS BY UNCONSTITUTIONALLY REFUSING TO ALLOW PRIOR NOTICE OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL STANDARDS, THE BURDENS OF PROOF, OR THE EVIDENCE WHICH IT USED TO INFER THAT THAT THE LIVES OF THE UNBORN ARE NOT PROTECTED BY THE U.S. CONSTITUTION.

The District Court in Roe v. Wade did not even look to see if the lives of the unborn were protected by the Constitution. This question was argued for the first time after the case reached this Court. Since this Court had never previously excluded anyone from the protection of the U.S. Constitution so they could be killed with impunity from criminal statutes, the parties had no prior notice of the factual and legal bases for such an exclusion.

Moreover in the aftermath of Dred Scott v. Sanford, legitimate public

4. "Even judges ... could be punished criminally for willful deprivations of constitutional rights." Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409 (1976).

expectation rested on the assurance that this Court would never again attempt another exception to the universal terms "any person."⁵

5. This Court's decision in Dred Scott v. Sanford appears to be the only precedent in American history in which this Court has implied an exception to the universal terms "any person" in the Fifth or Fourteenth Amendments. The Court there ruled that the universal words "any person" did not include Negroes, there was a constitutional right to own a slave, and Congress could not prohibit slavery in the free territories. This decision triggered a civil war. Candidate Abraham Lincoln vowed he would not obey Dred Scott. Opponents said their states would withdraw from the Union rather than be deprived of their assumed constitutional right to own slaves and take them to the free territories. 4 Collected Works of Abraham Lincoln 267 (1953). But President Abraham Lincoln responded that if he were bound by Dred Scott, "the people will have ceased to be their own rulers." Id., at 268. Thus the war commenced.

A purpose of the Fourteenth Amendment was to overrule Dred Scott, and place it beyond the power of judges to ever again produce convulsions by implying an exception the universal words "any person." For over a century legitimate public expectation rested on the assurance that this Court would never again attempt an exception to the universal terms "any person."

But without any prior notice, this Court once again, in the precise manner of Dred Scott, attempted to imply an exception to the universal words "any person." In Roe v. Wade, this Court thus combined both total surprise and violent defiance of the long standing legitimate public expectation that never again would this Court violate the universal words "any person."

In particular, this Court gave the parties in Roe v. Wade no prior notice of the constitutional standards, the burdens of proof, or the evidence, which the Court used to infer that the universal words "any person," as used in the Fourteenth Amendment, did not include the unborn.

The first time the parties had notice was when Roe v. Wade was published, and the victims were already condemned to death. An original party objected that it lacked the prior notice needed to defend the unborn:

(Not only did the Court set a new constitutional standard, but at the same moment the Court applied the standard without giving the Appellees notice or opportunity to present evidence with respect to the point in gestation at which such standards, if they be correct as a matter of law in the first place, should be applied. "Viability", "meaningful life" or existence, "fetal life": all presumably have medical meaning which should be subject to medical testimony before a decision of constitutional import becomes solidified in concrete. These concepts are not even necessarily the appropriate ones.⁶

But this Court refused to allow the original parties to have prior notice. Thus the killings commenced.

And this Court has maintained the killings despite repeated objections that the unborn had no prior notice in Roe v. Wade of the factual and legal basis needed to defend the unborn's right to life under the U.S. Constitution.⁷

7. See cases in note 2, supra.

The unborn have a constitutional right to prior notice of all the factual and legal bases before they can be excluded from the protection of the Constitution so they can be killed with impunity from criminal statutes.⁸ Judges who willfully deny this right are guilty of crime.⁹ This denial makes Roe v. Wade void.

THIS COURT EFFECTED THE ROE V. WADE KILLINGS BY UNCONSTITUTIONALLY USING A SECRET EVIDENTIARY PROCESS TO FIND EVIDENCE TO INFER THAT THE LIVES OF THE UNBORN ARE NOT PROTECTED BY THE U.S. CONSTITUTION.

This Court used some secret evidentiary process, not open to the parties, to find evidence to infer that the lives of the unborn were not protected by the U.S. Constitution. The Court conducted these evidentiary proceedings in its back rooms; the parties were not allowed to be present; no public record was made of these proceedings. The purpose of these proceedings was to find evidence to infer that the lives of the unborn were not protected by the U.S. Constitution. An original party objected to these secret judicial proceedings:

8. See note 3, supra.

9. See note 4, supra.

The Court has taken judicial notice of innumerable facts and factors, some which are expressly referred to in the Court's decision and some which are unknown to the parties but which apparently were extricated from various sources by the Court's diligent research, which facts nevertheless should be subject to refutation and counter-evidence since they form the foundation for the Court's opinion ... of constitutional stages of fetal growth.¹⁰

But the Court permitted the killings to commence despite this objection to its secret evidentiary proceedings.

And this Court has maintained the killings despite repeated objections that it used secret evidentiary proceeding in Roe v. Wade.¹¹

11. See cases in note 2, supra.

The unborn have a constitutional right not to be excluded from the protection of the U.S. Constitution by secret evidentiary proceedings.¹² Judges who willfully deny this right are guilty of crime.¹³ This denial makes Roe v. Wade void.

Since the Court used a secret process, the original parties had not seen all the evidence which the Court used to infer that the lives of the unborn are not protected by the U.S. Constitution. An original party asked permission to cross-examine the evidence which the Court used to infer that the lives of the unborn were not protected by the U.S. Constitution:

The Court has taken judicial notice of innumerable facts and factors, some

12. See note 3, supra.

13. See note 4, supra.

which are expressly referred to in the Court's decision and some which are unknown to the parties but which apparently were extricated from various sources by the Court's diligent research, which facts nevertheless should be subject to refutation and counter-evidence since they form the foundation of the Court's opinion... of constitutional stages of fetal growth.¹⁴

But the Supreme Court refused to allow the original parties to cross-examine its evidence in Roe v. Wade, which it used to infer that the lives of the unborn were not protected by the U.S. Constitution. Thus the killings commenced.

And this Court has maintained the killings by steadfastly refusing to allow its evidence, which it used to infer that the lives of the unborn were not protected by the U.S. Constitution, to be confronted and cross-examined.¹⁵

14. Petition for Rehearing 4, Doe v. Bolton, 410 U.S. 179 (1973), denied 410 U.S. 959 (1973) (emphasis added).

15. See cases in note 2, supra.

The unborn have a constitutional right to confront and cross-examine the evidence which this Court used to infer that their lives are not protected by the U.S. Constitution.¹⁶ Judges who willfully deny this right are guilty of crime.¹⁷ This denial makes Roe v. Wade void.

THIS COURT EFFECTED AND MAINTAINED THE ROE V. WADE KILLINGS BY UNCONSTITUTIONALLY REFUSING TO ALLOW EVIDENCE TO BE PRESENTED ON BEHALF OF THE UNBORN TO ESTABLISH THEIR RIGHT TO LIFE UNDER THE U.S. CONSTITUTION.

In Roe v. Wade, the Court invented new constitutional standards on the protection of life by the U.S. Constitution, which the parties did not see until after Roe v. Wade was decided. The parties never had opportunity to present evidence under these new standards. An original party asked permission to present evidence under the new constitutional standards, which it had not seen before, to show that the lives of the unborn are protected by the U.S.

Constitution:

We are dealing here with a procedure long considered outlawed and which has suddenly become legal.

....
The Court has selected a point in time at which states may protect fetal life, without any record of facts upon which to base the conclusion that only at "viability," as that term is defined by the Court, do the people of a state have authority to demand caution before a prenatal infant is destroyed.

....
Appellees have had no opportunity to show by evidence in a traditional judicial trial setting at what gestational stage the separate life of the fetus is "meaningful" medically; in addition, the Court overlooked the significance of Georgia's legal recognition of meaningful human life as found in case law and statute.

....
With no opportunity for Appellees to demonstrate the factual basis, in terms of current medical science, that its interest attaches at a particular point in the natural development of a human fetus, the Court has seized upon the convenient point of "viability" and crystallized constitutional command which bars State action.

In the medical concept of "life," with its current body of technological knowledge, including such advances as fetal electrocardiography and fetal electroencephalography, legal "life" should not be cemented at an event in a judicial conclusion which does not have the benefit of medical evidence.

At any rate, Appellees should have an opportunity to present evidence and testimony to support the State's claim of medically and scientifically sound interest in requiring a cautious approach to the extinguishment of fetal life.¹⁸

But the Court refused to allow the original parties to present evidence to show that the lives of the unborn were protected by the U.S. Constitution. Thus the killings commenced.

And this Court has maintained the killings by steadfastly refusing to allow evidence to be presented on behalf of the unborn to prove that their lives are protected by the U.S. Constitution.¹⁹

The unborn have a constitutional right to present evidence in this case to prove that their lives are protected by the U.S.

Constitution.²⁰ Judges who willfully deny this right are guilty of crime.²¹ This denial makes Roe v. Wade void.

The procedures used by the Court to effect and maintain the Roe v. Wade killings are essentially the same procedures cited by the Nuremberg Court as part of the evidence to convict the Nazi judges of complicity in extermination and murder.²²

II.
ISSUES RAISED BY COUNSEL
NOT RAISED BY THE PARTIES

1. THE UNIVERSAL GUARANTEE OF LIFE TO "ANY PERSON," MADE BY THE U.S.
CONSTITUTION, DOES INCLUDE THE UNBORN.

The parties have not raised the question of whether the lives of the unborn are protected by the U.S. Constitution, which disposes of all issues in this case.

The unborn have a right to assistance of counsel, to present evidence and arguments not presented by the parties, to show that the universal guarantee of life to "any person," made in the U.S.

Constitution, does include the unborn.²³

2. THERE IS A GOVERNMENT CONSPIRACY TO IMPOSE ON THIS NATION THE EXACT DOCTRINES WHICH THE UNITED STATES ITSELF CONDEMNED AS MURDER AT NUREMBERG.

At Nuremberg the Nazi judges claimed they could not be held accountable for the murder of millions of Jews, because "the supreme judge" of Nazi Germany had decreed those killings to be legal.²⁴ Under Nazi law, which they had obeyed, those killings were legal. But the United States prosecuted and the Nuremberg court convicted the Nazi judges of participating in a government conspiracy to murder.

Yet the record proves that the U.S. Supreme Court conspires to impose those exact doctrines on America by decree. This Court decreed killings to be "liberty" which the people had defined by their homicide statutes to be "murder."²⁵ This Court exactly decreed mass murder to be legal. By merely changing the names of the victims, this Court has duplicated the decree of "the supreme judge" of Nazi Germany.

When the U.S. Supreme Court was accused of mass murder in the United States District Court in Richmond, the U.S. Government claimed that the Supreme Court had the power to decree mass murder to be legal, and the U.S. Government expressly argued that the Supreme Court must be obeyed even if it decreed a liberty to kill Jews.²⁶ Although the U.S. District Judge objected that Roe v.

26. Ernest v. United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, transcript of proceedings at 21-22, cert. denied 475 U.S. 1084 (1986):

[U.S. District Judge]: Let me ask you to respond to this question. The plaintiff argues in his brief that the Supreme Court in Roe v. Wade took a discrete group of entities and said that these entities have no right to live, and thus may be killed And he said if you take Roe v. Wade and remove the word "fetus" and just substitute most any other word you want of another discrete group, that we wouldn't be here discussing this at all. Let's say that instead of "fetus," they said "Jews." That is the one he used in his brief.

Would you argue stare decisis to me if, under Roe v. Wade, at the whim of neighbors Jews could be put to death?

[U.S. Govt. Lawyer]: (I) would have to agree with the doctrine of stare decisis and advance it to the court.

Wade was "the worst decision by the Supreme Court in the history of the Court," the U.S. District Judge adopted the U.S. Government's arguments that he must obey the U.S. Supreme Court no matter who it decreed a liberty to kill.²⁷ This record proves a conspiracy by both the executive and judicial departments of the government of the United States to impose on this nation the very doctrines which the United States itself condemned as murder at Nuremberg. Yet on review, not one Justice of this Court had any objection to these doctrines.²⁸

Moreover, each Justice of this Court was named as a defendant in a civil suit, and accused of mass murder in the U.S.

27. Ernest v. United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, pet. cert. at A2, cert. denied 475 U.S. 1084 (1986).

28. Ernest v. United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, cert. denied without comment 475 U.S. 1084 (1986). If any Justice had believed that the doctrines condemned as murder at Nuremberg were not legal in the United States, as claimed by the U.S. Government, he certainly would have noted his objection.

District Court in Alexandria.²⁹ The Justices boldly claimed, through their U.S. Government lawyers, that the U.S. Supreme Court has the power to decree mass murder to be liberty. The Justices further claimed that after the Supreme Court had decreed (without any trial) mass murder of anyone to be liberty, the victims being killed could not even appear in court and challenge the validity of the decree. And the U.S. District Judge adopted this position as law without even permitting a hearing in the cause, or even being able to show one single allegation in the complaint to be wrong in fact or law. Thus, each Justice of this Court boldly claimed the absolute power to decree mass murder to be liberty, by mere decree without trial, no matter who the victims might be, and this is now accepted by all the courts of the United States, the U.S. Congress, and the President, as the law of the land.

Moreover this has been the steadfast policy of the United States, asserted in court after court, for almost two decades. All the lower judges who have upheld this Court's claim of power to condemn millions to death by decree, are accused of complicity in capital mass murder.³⁰

The U.S. Congress has also joined the conspiracy to impose these doctrines on the United States. When the Congress held hearings on Roe v. Wade, it conspired to allow all the false evidence in Roe v. Wade to be presented, but refused to allow the rebuttal to be presented, and thus Congress conspired to present falsehood to the nation as if it were the truth. Moreover Congress has deliberately defied its constitutional duty to control this Court, knowing full well that its defiance would directly contribute to the death of the victims. Thus leaders of Congress have joined the federal judicial and executive departments in this gigantic conspiracy.³¹

"liberty" to kill the unborn without any investigation to see if their lives were protected by the Constitution: Circuit Judges Morgan and Goldberg; District Judges Smith, Henderson, Hughes and Taylor.

31. The complaint (supra note 29) at para. 6 p.3, alleged that various members of the committees on the Judiciary, whose particular duty was to control the courts, were a part of the conspiracy: "The co-conspirators include ex-Chairman Peter Rodino, Chairman Rep. Jack Brooks,

The leaders of all three branches of the government of the United States escape the accusation that they conspired to commit capital mass murder - to kill children in violation of murder statutes - by merely claiming the same defense, using the very same words, which the United States itself condemned as murder at Nuremberg. This is surely the signal event in the history of mankind's search for a government of laws, and not of men.

This is a conspiracy by leaders of the judicial, executive and legislative branches of the government of the United States: (1) to claim the absolute power to decree mass murder to be legal, (2) to claim that if the Supreme Court decreed the killing of Jews (or any victims whatever) to be legal, the whole nation must obey, and (3) to supplant subcommittee chairman Rep. Don Edwards, subcommittee chairman Rep. Robert Kastenmeier; Chairman Sen. Joseph Biden, ex-Chairman Sen. Edward Kennedy. A jury could find this conspiracy to be murder."

the U.S. Constitution as the supreme law of the land, and to impose the legal system on the United States by judicial fiat, which was adjudged to be murder at Nuremberg.

Leaders of the national news media have also joined the conspiracy. Even though the U.S. Supreme Court was accused of mass murder in The Washington Post,³² and the Court never attempted to prove a word of the accusation to be wrong, that newspaper continued its policy of editorially supporting the killings despite repeated notices its encouragement could amount to complicity in mass murder.³³

32. "WASHINGTON LAWYER CHARGES U.S. SUPREME COURT WITH MASS MURDER," published in The Washington Post, Sept 12, 1979, page A6.

33. The Washington Post has been warned almost 100 times that advocacy of murder is not free speech; that even a sincere belief that Roe v. Wade is good law is no defense, since ignorance of the law is no excuse, and the narrow exception of reasonable reliance on a court decision does not apply in homicide cases. See authorities in amicus brief (supra note 25) at p.62 n.6. And while The Washington Post supported the killings, it covered up news unparalleled in world history - that the U.S. Government claimed the power to decree a liberty to kill Jews, or anyone - by mere decree without trial.

In explaining how the monstrous crimes of the Nazi regime went unchecked, Winston Churchill merely quoted Machiavelli: "Men avenge slight injuries, but not grave ones." In this manner America is ruled by a giant conspiracy to commit mass murder, which consists of leaders of all three branches of the federal government, and leaders of the national news media. That the United States can be ruled for two decades by a giant conspiracy to mass murder is the most catastrophic crime in the recorded history of the world, which now draws a terrifying darkness over the future of all mankind.

CONCLUSION

The Court is moved to allow counsel to represent the unborn and defend their right to life under the U.S. Constitution.
